

Criteo and RevContent (the "Partners") hereby represents and warrants that (i) the provision of data, including personal data (collectively "Data"), to EX.CO, and the intended use thereof by EX.CO, is in compliance with all applicable laws, rules and regulations, including privacy laws; (ii) the Partners' use, including their disclosure to and use of Data by EX.CO, shall not cause any third party, including Partners' publishers or other third party Data sources ("Publishers") to breach their respective privacy obligations or their respective privacy policies; (iii) the Partners and their Publishers have provided all legally required notices and disclosures to data subjects and obtained all consents as may be necessary with respect to the use and the transfer of Data; (iv) the Partners will, and will require their Publishers to, adhere to all applicable industry frameworks and guidelines; and (v) in case Partners receive any data subject opt-out request or similar, Partners shall avoid transmitting such data subject's Data to EX.CO and if applicable, promptly inform EX.CO in order to enable EX.CO to comply with the data subject request within the time frame stipulated under applicable privacy laws. The Partners hereby waive any claim or argument against EX.CO, and shall indemnify, hold harmless and defend EX.CO from any and all claims pertaining to EX.CO's use of the Data, as described herein.